The Latest Republican Grievance.

The republican journals cannot find words adequate to express their condemnation of Messrs. Stewart and Stanford for having dared to disregard party bias so far as to vote for the candidate of a democratic president for judge upon the supreme bench.

The Bee, which for the past year has been very careful to say nothing which could in any way mar the chances of the great and good Senator Stanford for the coming republican presidential candidate who was to wipe out a democratic administration and defeat Cleveland in the face of destiny, has suddenly discovered that Stanford is a grossly railroad monopolist and that Mr. Lamar is to be used as an instrument on the judicial bench for a railway interest.

It is to be remarked, however, that all the wool manufacturers are not in favor of an increase of the tariff either on wool or its products, and some are favorable to a reduction on both. It is said that several who were members of the conference strongly objected in committee to the schedule adopted, and are taking steps to organize the manufacturers opposed to a high wool tariff for the purpose of antagonizing before congress him as all that was honorable, and as a martyr to his honesty.

There are but two explanations of the misrepresentations of the Bee contained in this perille utterance of our increasingly dull and stupid contemporary. They are due to either ignorance of the course of this paper or to willful mendacity, with the circumstances rather in favor of the latter. It is true that the editor of the Herald is new to Omaha journalism, but he has been here long enough to become familiar with the attitude of the Bee regarding ex-commissioner Sparks, and any member of his staff of long experience in Omaha could have told him what estimate this paper has always placed on Senator Stanford.

The readers of the Bee will not need to be told that this paper has never denounced Mr. Sparks, or said anything regarding him that could possibly be construed to his detriment. On the contrary we have always maintained that Sparks was thoroughly honest in his policy and aims, and while his course was not always free from mistakes his intention at all times was to promote and conserve what he believed to be the interests and welfare of the government and the people.

As to Senator Stanford, the Bee has repeatedly during the past year, and many times before, scored him in terms which would leave no doubt of its complete condemnation of his whole career and character. We regard him still as a thoroughly unscrupulous and dangerous man, and the fact of his voting to confirm Lamar is the strongest possible circumstantial evidence of an understanding between them. The idea that we ever could have thought of Stanford as a possible republican candidate for the presidency is so preposterously absurd as to almost discredit the editor of the Herald as a man of ordinary common sense.

The Philadelphia bricklayers have adopted resolutions at their last assembly meeting which binds them to insist on a uniform wage-list during the next building season. The stone-masons of Philadelphia have already adopted a scale for 1888, at $3.25 for nine hours a day. The Omaha masons and bricklayers should lose no time in following this example and fix the scale of wages and hours of work for the present year.

The half-holiday law passed by the New York legislature last year has been found to be a nuisance, as any one with a grain of common sense might have known. It is of no benefit to anybody but a serious obstruction to business. Most of those for whom the law was especially enacted have a certain amount of work to perform during the week and they have to crowd as much labor into five days and a half as they otherwise would perform in six. For business men who have much to do with banks the law is a serious hindrance.

The wool conference. There is not the most remote probability that the schedule of revised tariff rates on wool and woolen manufactures, adopted by the conference of wool growers and manufacturers held in Washington last week, will receive the favorable consideration of congress, except so far, perhaps, as it may suggest corrections of inconsistencies and abuses shown to exist. The demand of the conference is that the wool tariff of 1867 shall be substantially restored, by which duties on all grades would be materially increased, and that there be an addition of fifteen per cent ad valorem on woolen goods, so that the manufacturer would be fortified against the increased cost of the raw material.

to try to array the other cities of Nebraska against Omaha on such a flimsy pretext.

According to County Treasurer Boll's report, the railroad sinking fund now in the county treasury, and held for the redemption of the county's railroad debt, amounts to $54,558.31. This large sum is lying unproductive in the county treasury, while at the same time the county is paying 7 to 10 per cent interest on its railroad bonds, and 7 per cent on its outstanding unpaid registered warrants. Now, it strikes us a little financiering by the county commissioners would be of material advantage to the taxpayers of Douglas county. Why can't the commissioners invest this sinking fund surplus in interest bearing bonds? They can readily, if they do not want to lay long time bonds, invest in paving bonds which bear interest at not less than 6 per cent.

The success of the anti-Randall democrats in securing control of the democratic state committee of Pennsylvania is the most notable defeat the leader of the protectionist element of the democracy has met with in a long time. The credit of the administration victory, for such it is, is given to Congressman Scott, who thereby becomes practically the democratic leader in Pennsylvania. The effort will be to give Mr. Cleveland a full delegation, with no second choice, from Pennsylvania to the national democratic convention.

The story comes from California that a brother of Secretary Vilas is interested in a forest in that state valued at ten million dollars, but which was bought from the government for two hundred thousand dollars. Sparks instituted proceedings to recover this timber land and the case is still undecided. It will be interesting to learn what the new secretary of the interior thinks of this matter, and it is to be hoped he will not be permitted to lose sight of it.

Congressman Botman, of Ohio, is a one-legged soldier. The Hendrick monument fund now aggregates $22,000. Bret Harce is said to be making from $7,000 to $10,000 in London. Motor Keoley has quit working on his motor and will write a book. Don Platt is said to have first applied the word "crank" to eccentric people. Mr. Gladstone will celebrate the seventy-ninth anniversary of his birth the 29th.

Dr. Schlemmer is at present engaged in excavations at the temple of Venus in the island of Ceylon. Sunset Cox is now the only democratic member of the house who participated in the democratic caucus of 1856. Miss Dorothy Craik, adopted daughter of the late Mrs. Diana Mulock-Craik, is sole heiress of the author's money, amounting to $85,000.

Ex-Governor Alger is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless. Dr. Barnardo, a London philanthropist, has obtained 5,000 acres of land in northwestern Canada, which he hopes to convert into an industrial farm to which homeless London boys may be sent.

George Vanderbilt, a son of William H. Vanderbilt, has offered $300,000 for the "Seaman's Retreat," house and grounds, at Stapleton, Staten Island, with the purpose of presenting it to the county for a court house jail. Ex-President Grover is an exquisite classical scholar. He loves music and painting, and has a chaste style in writing and speaking. The passions of his old age are money and his daughter, without whom he could not live.

Rosa Bonheur is now an elderly woman, but she has her youthful enthusiasm for her art and for animals. Her home in the village of By, on the edge of the forest of Fontainebleau, is a veritable menagerie. Among her pets are two lions that she bought to use as models.

The real question. The real question about the prohibitory law is not as to its constitutionality, but as to its wisdom. A Land of Idleness and Misery. Those who go to the Pacific coast about all tell the same tale of idleness, misery and poverty. A great number of people have returned as poor as Job's turkey.

Unconscious Sarcasm. The intelligent pioneer sometimes gets there unconsciously. In a contemporary's published list of congressional committees one of them was styled "private" and the word "private" was the official word. Shows for itself. We are in receipt of a splendidly illustrated edition of the Omaha Bee, from R. M. Donnelly, which sets forth the wonderful growth of that city in grand style. If the people of the old world could see a copy of that paper showing the great number of immense business blocks erected during the past year they would not believe it possible—but it shows for itself.

Horse-Car Rhymes. Rushing on the sidewalk, Through the crowded street, Catch the getting street car, Bumping, shoving, pushing, Much the comforts mar, Bless me! This is pleasant, Riding on a car.

When their beaus will come. Man upon the platform With a check and cigar.

Man who works at stock yards Has some on his clothes; Man who weighs three hundred Takes a quiet dose; Clumsy-footed monster, Face and hands like tar; Horse-meat! This is pleasant Riding on a car.

Nebraska Jottings. A cheese factory and a prohibition paper threaten to blossom in Rushville. Fairmont's new hotel, the Clarendon, which cost $25,000, will be opened February 22. The muddle in the Nebraska City council is growing darker and denser every day.

Calico hops are indulged in immoderately by the dudes of Valentine. A portion of the genuine article is considered a specific for swells. The district court of Hall county, Judge Duffay and Harrison, have decided that the occupation tax levied in Grand Island is legal and must be paid.

It is rumored that Bellevue is to have a new-papeer in the near future. One of the prominent real estate owners of the town intends to boom the place in the spring and will doubtless need the assistance of some live editor to help him in his enterprise. The Holdrege Nugget has issued an elegant double number, a creamery edition, showing the growth of Holdrege, its advantages and prospects. The principal streets, business blocks and residences are illustrated, and pictorial and biographical sketches given of the men who made the town. The number is a commendable stroke of enterprise.

Webster City is prospecting for gas. The public improvements in Fort Dodge for the past year amount to $27,000. A tow mill at Orange City is paying $3 per ton for fax straw, and wants all it can get. Articles of incorporation of the Creston Water and Light company, of Creston, have been filed with the secretary of state. The object is to furnish water and light in that city. The capital stock is $250,000.

W. A. Roberts, of Warren county, was a soldier of the late war, his father was in the war of 1812, and his grandfather was a soldier in the revolutionary war. Mr. Roberts has a $50 bill of continental money paid to his grandfather for services. It is much worn, but it is in a good state of preservation to be so old. Dakota. Sioux Falls has a female Unitarian preacher. Jamestown will have a new opera house with a seating capacity of 1,000.

Deadwood papers claim that real estate is looking up wonderfully in that locality. It is predicted that $250,000 will be spent in prospecting for coal in the vicinity of Mitchell the approaching season. Another vein of coal has been discovered on the line of Wells and Sheridan counties. The vein is ten feet thick and twelve feet deep.

She Lies for Weeks Without Becoming Conscious. Albuquerque (N.M.) Democrat, Jan. 8: The case of Francis A. Las Vegas, recently reported in the Democrat, continues to baffle the skill of local physicians. Friday the girl continued to lie without signs of life other than her regular breathing. The Optic says that on Friday of last week some effort was made to arouse the girl from her stupor and she was left alone. Upon the return of the landlady to the roof the patient was found in an unconscious state, staring blankly at the ceiling, without signs of life other than her regular breathing, and in this condition she has remained for eight days, except that for the last five days her eyes have been closed, and four times during the eight days she has raised up enough to speak a few words when spoken to. She has taken only milk in the way of nourishment, and this morning, before day, was the only time she has been sufficiently aroused to hold the cup in her own hand. At that time she asked who cut her hair short, though it was left alone. Upon the return of the landlady to the roof the patient was found in an unconscious state, staring blankly at the ceiling, without signs of life other than her regular breathing, and in this condition she has remained for eight days, except that for the last five days her eyes have been closed, and four times during the eight days she has raised up enough to speak a few words when spoken to.

A mule over sixty years old is owned by Aunt Nancy Honaker, of Laynesville, Ky. It came from Virginia over sixty years ago, and still earns its living under the saddle and before a buggy. A comparison of the mails across the Atlantic and Pacific shows that the news of an event in the former reaches New York by the Pacific route one day ahead.
